NAMA used LCV market commentary for October

Whole market - October compared to September

- Total sales volume in October rose sharply from 7,929 to 9,110 units (+ 14.9%).
- The average age of those LCV lots that sold at auction was 66.4 months.
- At 82,852 miles, average mileage for LCVs was modestly lower.
- In October, the average price for an LCV sold at auction rose by 7.7% to £4,681.
- The average number of entries required to achieve a sale fell to 1.27.
- The number of days that LCVs remained on site fell to 11.8.
- Following on from several strong months, conversion rates climbed to 78%.

Comment:

Against the background of an improving national economy where business confidence has strengthened, demand for vans and pick-ups of all ages remains high. The volume of LCVs being sold at auctions across the UK grew sharply in October, yet helpfully, the average age and mileage of these lots was lower. As a consequence, prices responded positively and conversion rates hit a high which sets the scene for a strong close to the year.

Comment:

Since the traditional summer slowdown when volumes fell back, numbers had been increasing steadily; yet unexpectedly, in October they leapt by nearly 15% compared to the previous month. Significant increases were recorded for each age band, with the ranks of less than 2 years old LCVs swelling by 52%. However, here the numbers are small and to be welcomed, whilst a 21% rise for the oldest vans represents a greater challenge.

Comment:

Average mileage for the majority of LCVs sold at auction in October fell modestly from 83,085 to 82,852 which is undoubtedly a trend to be welcomed. However, with the typical mileage of a van of between 4.1 – 6 years of age currently standing above 85,000 miles and the corresponding figure for the oldest lots now being well over 100,000 miles, it is apparent that market's appetite for such hard-used LCVs is set to be fully tested.

Comment:

The strength of the demand for used LCVs at all years was demonstrated in October with another barnstorming performance. The average price of an LCV sold at auction moved to £4,681, representing a healthy uplift of 7.7% over September. This market strength was fairly evenly spread across the age bands, yet despite volumes and mileage having increased for LCVs over 6 years, they posted an impressive 10.5% price improvement.

Market Overview

This NAMA Report has again delivered a strong message that reveals the market for used light commercial vehicles to be in rude health. For October, a headline comment on the auction scene might well be distilled to simply; volumes, conversion rates and prices grow by 14.9%, 5% and 7.7% respectively. On top of this positive message, average age, mileage and number of days in stock each fell by a significant amount. Therefore, the question becomes - can things get any better?

Over the coming months, the reality is likely to be that buyers are going to have to pay more for lesser lots with vendors needing to maximise returns from ageing stock that is in short supply. The key is going to be keeping supply and demand in balance and managing expectations as to what lies ahead. If done correctly, there should be few nasty shocks in store for trade or retail buyers and in turn, those at the sharp-end of LCV remarketing might expect to see high returns and conversion rates over an extended period. It will be a time for all to be realistic and build upon those all-important trade relationships.

Largely thanks to the UK's economy growing well, with no imminent suggestion that there will be an oversupply of used LCV stock entering the marketplace, prospects for the first half of 2014 are encouraging. Therefore, any nervousness and effort taken in speculating as to just how long these buoyant market conditions are likely to prevail, should be replaced by implementing actions that ensure that they will be long lived.
